A MESSAGE FROM THE COANJ PRESIDENT

I have long admired those who served as President of the Constitutional Officers Association of New Jersey because they took on additional work beyond their elected official roles to work for a great bi-partisan association comprised of all New Jersey Sheriffs, County Clerks, Registers and Surrogates. The greatness of our association comes from the spirit of collaboration among our membership. We share best practices to provide the public with excellent services at the County level. I am truly honored to have been selected to lead this outstanding organization and I look forward to working with all of the great County officials in this membership.

What I was not prepared for was leading this organization during a pandemic. When I took the oath to become COANJ President, along with the other accomplished executive board officers this year, it was in a private ceremony with the membership watching virtually. We could not meet at an annual dinner, but instead we met in a private room in the New Jersey Statehouse. The material point, however, is that we pressed on. This organization, which is 100 years old, was not deterred by a pandemic or other past challenges. We moved ahead. We will continue to meet, even if virtually, to share ideas and develop strong governmental policies for the benefit of all New Jerseyans.

During this past year I found that we relied on one another more than ever, as County Clerks navigated how to conduct presidential elections during a pandemic, and Clerks and Registers continued to record property transactions electronically or other ways to make sure business continued. The Surrogates dealt with a record number of wills to probate, death certificates to issue, while staff quarantined. And, the Sheriffs had to protect the courthouses and judges in new ways, as many courts held hearings that were partly remote and partly in person. We met these challenges head-on by working together, helping one another, and just by listening and empathizing with one another when times were tough.

I look forward to working with all of the dedicated and truly amazing public servants I have met through this organization in the coming year as President. I appreciate their support and cooperation as we move forward. While I have my own positive experiences to share, I have much to learn as well. Thus, I am both humbled and energized by this opportunity to serve.
